

As a happy listener of XM radio, I urge the FCC not to interfere with services provided to its listeners. XM is the best thing to happen to radio since NPR (National Public Radio). The breadth of services offered through private contract is something this listener highly values. I respectfully request that the FCC not attempt to restrict XM's programming. Calvin Smith, Tallahassee FL